

ECONOMY

'Panicking': Why recent college grads are struggling to find jobs

Recent college graduates are facing one of the most challenging job markets in years — with the exception of the pandemic period — even as the overall unemployment rate remains low.

NATIONAL

Wildfire destroys dozens of structures at Grand Canyon National Park

KNAU NEWS TALK - ARIZONA PUBLIC RADIO

NATIONAL

Senate committee details failures by Secret Service in preventing Trump shooting

MIDDLE EAST

Israeli settlers beat U.S. citizen to death in West Bank

REVIEW

POP CULTURE HAPPY HOUR

'Love Island USA' might decenter whiteness — but the show still won't face reality

NATIONAL

2 killed and 2 wounded in shooting at Kentucky church; suspect also shot police trooper

WEKU

RELIGION

Los Angeles houses of worship plan for possible ICE raids

POLITICS

Here's a list of Trump's tariff letters so far and the rates they threaten

A screenshot of a table with multiple columns. The first column lists various countries and regions, and the second column lists the corresponding tariff rates. The table is organized into sections with headers like 'Country', 'Tariff Rate', and 'Effective Date'.

SPORTS

Jannik Sinner wins Wimbledon, Italy's first singles champion

Latest Stories

1 hour ago

Wildfire destroys a historic Grand Canyon lodge and other structures

2 hours ago

Jannik Sinner wins Wimbledon, Italy's first singles champion

3 hours ago

Senate committee details failures by Secret Service in preventing Trump shooting

5 hours ago

Nigeria's former President Muhammadu Buhari dies at 82

11 hours ago

Sunday Puzzle: Words ending in "AC"INVESTIGATIONS*Camp Mystic asked to remove buildings from government flood maps despite risk

The data also highlights critical risks in other areas along the Guadalupe River in Kerr County, and nationwide as many Americans have a flood risk they are not aware of.

IMMIGRATIONNo playing Spanish-language music: Many immigrants say they have new rules for driving

As the Trump administration's crackdown continues, traffic stops have become increasingly important tools of enforcement. It has led many immigrants to take alternate modes of transportation.

SPACEThe biggest piece of Mars on Earth is going up for auction in New York

Sotheby's in New York will be auctioning the largest piece of Mars ever found on Earth.

AFRICANigeria's former President Muhammadu Buhari dies at 82

Nigeria's former president Muhammadu Buhari — who once ruled as a military dictator before returning decades later as an elected leader — has died at 82.

Recovery operations halted, vigil cancelled as flash flood warnings continue across Central Texas

TEXAS PUBLIC RADIO

Kerrville city officials have announced that recovery operations have been suspended due to heavy rain in the area. Ground crews working in the river corridor have been advised to evacuate until further notice.

INVESTIGATIONS

New data reveals FEMA missed major flood risks at Camp Mystic

The data also highlights critical risks in other areas along the Guadalupe River in Kerr County, revealing more than twice as many Americans live in flood prone areas than FEMA's maps show.

Relief efforts in Comfort come with a hug

TEXAS PUBLIC RADIO

The town of Comfort has established a store that doesn't take money, but gives supplies, and comfort, to those who drop by.

NATIONAL

'Helping every dang soul': Beloved camp director was among those lost in Texas flooding

Jane Ragsdale ran the Heart O' the Hills camp for girls in Kerr County. The camp was between sessions when the deluge hit. The only person killed there was Ragsdale.

THE PICTURE SHOW

Photos: Before-and-after satellite images show extent of Texas flooding destruction

Before-and-after images show how the Guadalupe River surged and devastated towns across Texas hill country.

MIDDLE EAST

At least 30 killed in Israeli strikes on Gaza as war deaths top 58,000, officials say

At least six children were killed in an Israeli strike on a water collection point. The Israeli military blamed a technical error which made its munition fall "dozens of meters from the target".

Abdel Kareem Hana/AP

IMMIGRATION

Federal judge orders stop to indiscriminate immigration raids in Los Angeles

Civil rights groups alleged that ICE and Border Patrol agents are rounding people up based on their race, and denying them access to lawyers. A federal judge said there's evidence what they're doing is illegal.

BUSINESS

What Trump's One Big Beautiful Bill Act means for taxes on Social Security

Many Americans received an email from the Social Security Administration applauding the megabill's passage. Experts say it was misleading.

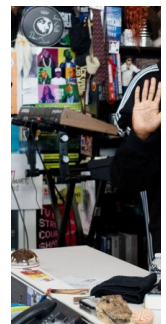

WATCH

yMusic: Tiny Desk Concert

Adrianne Lenker: Tiny Desk (Home) Concert

Clipse: Tiny

Tiny Desk Concert: yMusic

yMusic is completely at home backing up the likes of Paul Simon, The National and Dirty Projectors, or performing music it has commissioned from today's top composers.

CLIMATE

Where to find information about flood risk to your home

Many people in the United States receive little or no information about flood risk when they move into a new home or apartment. Here's how you can learn about your flood risk.

NEWS

Hundreds of workers are laid off in a State Department overhaul

The State Department is slashing hundreds of jobs in what's being called its biggest shake-up in decades — drawing sharp criticism from former diplomats who say the cuts risk gutting America's diplomatic muscle.

GOATS AND SODA

Folklife stars: Maya artist, Bolivian rappers, Dolly Parton's guitar restorer

They all showed off their talents at this year's Smithsonian Folklife Festival. The theme: How youth keep cultural traditions alive.

AFRICA

Nigeria says it won't accept U.S. deportees: 'We have enough problems of our own'

Nigeria's government is pushing back against U.S. efforts to send the country migrants and foreign prisoners, with Nigerian Foreign Minister Yusuf Tuggar quoting Public Enemy to drive home his point.

TED RADIO HOUR

Illustration by Luke

Medina/NPR/Photo by Andrey

Popov/Getty Images

Could AI extend your life indefinitely? Futurist Ray Kurzweil thinks so

As AI infiltrates every aspect of our lives, futurist Ray Kurzweil shares lessons from 60 years of working on AI. What he got right — wrong — and where he thinks we are headed next.

WORLD

Preliminary report says fuel switches were cut off before Air India Boeing 787 crash

Indian investigators determined the Boeing 787 Dreamliner was properly configured and lifted off normally. But three seconds after takeoff, the engines' fuel switches were cut off.

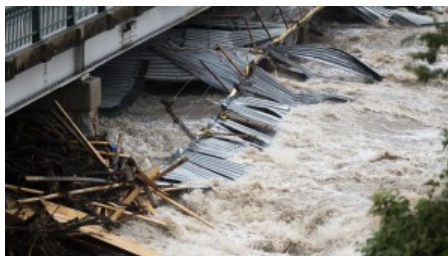

CLIMATE

How flood sirens could have saved lives in Texas

In the wake of the deadly flash floods in Texas, state leaders are exploring whether to install more flood warning sirens. Such sirens can save lives if they're part of a larger warning system.

- What should you do in a flash flood? Expert safety tips for before, during and after
- New data reveals FEMA missed major flood risks at Camp Mystic

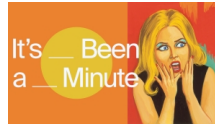

Lorianne Willett/KUT News

The National Weather Service is stretched thin in Texas. It has been for years

KUT 90.5

Former National Weather Service meteorologists say local offices are overstretched, even as they performed admirably during the catastrophic floods in Texas.

CULTURE

Gen Z is afraid of sex — and for good reason

Gen Z is in a sex recession. Not because they're less horny, but because they're more afraid.

REVIEW

POP CULTURE HAPPY HOUR

James Gunn's 'Superman' movie is corny. Which is why it gets Superman right

Every era gets the Superman it needs. James Gunn's version — sincere, inspiring and idealistic — will make you want to cheer.

ASIA

In Myanmar, a rush for rare earth metals is causing a regional environmental disaster

A drastic increase in unregulated production of rare earth minerals in Myanmar is causing serious environmental concerns downriver in Thailand, as China's influence in the sector looms large.

POLITICS

Trump got his tax bill over the finish line. Now he has to sell it to voters

The 900-page tax and policy package fulfills several key campaign promises but also makes cuts that could boot millions from health care and food assistance programs.

LAW

Guantánamo plea deals for accused 9/11 plotters are canceled by federal appeals court

A federal appeals court has canceled plea deals with three men accused of orchestrating the 9/11 attacks, deepening the legal morass surrounding the long-stalled case.

Kevin Dietsch/Getty Images/Getty Images North America

IMMIGRATION

Masked immigration agents are spurring fear and confusion across the U.S.

The Department of Homeland Security says federal agents arresting immigrants are hiding their faces for their own safety. Legal advocates say the practice undermines public trust.

THE NPR NEWS QUIZ

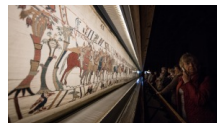

What AI bot started referring to itself as 'MechaHitler'? Find out in the quiz

Elon Musk and his AI have been busy. So has the TSA. And Amazon. Were you paying attention?

EUROPE

Part ancient war propaganda, part comic strip, the Bayeux Tapestry will return to the U.K.

On a state visit, France's president announced the loan of the tapestry embroidered with scenes of the 1066 Norman invasion. It will return to the U.K. for the first time in more than 900 years.

more from

news

culture

music

READ & LISTEN

Home

News

Culture

Music

Podcasts & Shows

CONNECT

Newsletters

Facebook

Instagram

Press

Public Editor

Corrections

Transcripts

Contact & Help

ABOUT NPR

Overview

Diversity

NPR Network

Accessibility

GET INVOLVED

Support Public Radio

Sponsor NPR

NPR Careers

NPR Shop

Ethics

NPR Events

Finances

NPR Extra

terms of use

privacy

your privacy choices

text only